

FOUND DEAD MAN STANDING ON HIS HEAD

Body of William Brennan
Discovered in Areaway of His Home.

A dead man standing upon his head in the areaway of No. 47 South First street, Williamsburg, was the gruesome spectacle that transpired yesterday when the body of William Brennan, of No. 324 Myrtle avenue, while on his way to work to-day.

Backman called the police, who made an investigation and found that the dead man was William Brennan, thirty years old, and that he lived in the house where the body was found.

How the man's body ever got into its strange position is a perplexing problem for the police to solve.

Detectives from the Bedford avenue station have been detailed upon the case with instructions to discover whether Brennan was the victim of violence or a peculiar accident.

Brennan boarded in the First street house with Mrs. Mary Fraundorf, who told the police that he was formerly employed in a New York broker's office, but that he had thrown up his position two years ago when an aunt died and left him $10,000. Since then he had spent his time enjoying himself.

About ten days ago Brennan complained of feeling ill. He said he feared that his mind was giving way. He was advised to go to a sanitarium. Yesterday he went out with two strange men. They have not since been seen.

The police, while unable to explain the manner of his death, believe he was not the victim of robbery, as his jewelry and $2 were found upon him.

SEEKS HIS SISTER AFTER TWENTY YEARS' ABSENCE.

John Farley, Recently Returned from the West, Can Find No
Trace of Relative.

After wandering in the West for twenty years, John Farley has returned East in search of his sister, Lizzie Farley. When he went away she was a fifteen-year-old girl and lived at No. 327 Grove street, Jersey City, with a relative named Mrs. McDermott.

Farley went to the house on the day he arrived from the West. He was told that the McDermotts were not known there. They had moved away so long ago that nobody in the neighborhood remembered them.

He has followed many clues that have led him to a number of cities in the vicinity of New York, but has been unable to find the sister whom he has not seen for so long a time. He believes she is married and probably has a family of her own by this time.

Farley is now living in Hoboken. Information concerning his sister will reach him if sent in care of the Public Library.

TO FORM ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

A meeting was held last evening by a number of the graduates of Grammar School No. 22, in West Thirty-ninth street, with a view of forming a school alumni. Dr. John A. Robinson was elected temporary chairman and Robert R. Halsey temporary secretary. It is proposed to hold a dinner each year, to which the former teachers are to be invited. Former students of '22' are asked to send their names and addresses to R. R. Halsey, No. 85 Liberty street.

Young Rockefeller Says He Will Stay There All Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., arrived yesterday at Pocantico Hills from their New York home. The elder Rockefeller's automobile and a large three-seated carriage met them. A nurse cared for the baby, and the young couple were accompanied by several friends. Mr. Rockefeller looked well.

"I never felt better in my life," he said. "I'm going to stay right here for the rest of the summer. This is the best health resort of which I know. I'm going to take a complete rest. Tarrytown air is good enough for me."

Mr. Rockefeller has a beautiful home here and expects to play golf with his father, who plays every day. Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., entertained a large party of guests, and, as usual, played golf.

99th YEAR COWPERTHWAIT & SONS

When Frigates Did the Work of Battleships

WHILE the world is ringing with the echoes of the greatest sea fight of history—won by the "Yankees of the East"—it is a source of national satisfaction to look back upon the achievements of our own Yankee navy. With all honor to Dewey and Schley and Sampson, we can easily run our finger back over the pages to a time when we were the small nation opposed to one of the greatest of European Powers.

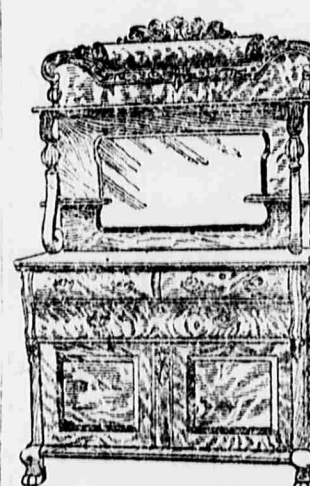

All history records no more valiant sea fights than those of 1812, when the Decatur and Perrys fought their swift sailing frigates, opposed to the more powerful but slower ships of England.

Instead of the fighting masts, there was a splendid spread of canvas blossoming out from the topgallant yards down, as soon as the enemy was sighted, and a booming of broadsides as the frigates heaved and rolled under the stress of cannon and weather.

Fights like that between the American frigate United States and the Macedonian, of His Majesty's Navy, in October, 1812, fixed the chivalry of the sea at its highest point and furnished examples affectionally followed by the admirals of to-day in all parts of the world.

There was a spirit of honor and patriotism abroad in this newest of countries at that time—present in business and social life as well as in feats of arms. And it was early in that period—in 1807—that the house of Cowperthwait & Sons was founded.

Its constant and successful endeavor has been to preserve the same spirit through all its long career.

Large Flaked Oak Sideboard, $37.50

RESPLENDENT in flaked quartered oak, this large sideboard is one of the handsomest pieces of dining-room furniture we have shown this season at a special price.

It is singularly harmonious in design and finish, the carvings according with the general contour of the piece and contributing the richness that seems necessary to make a perfect whole.

Finely polished, large drawer for linen, prettily lined silver drawer, large closets for china, 18x32 French plate bevelled mirror with shelves at either side and a spacious mantel above.

Colonial Desk of Fine Mahogany, $67.50

POLISHED mahogany is considered by competent judges one of the richest woods in the world, especially when the grain is well defined and properly developed.

Magnificent in its proportions, this desk of superb mahogany is built on Colonial lines, being finished in splendid style inside and out.

The swell top, the consoles and the glass knobs shed over the desk an atmosphere of the olden days that every lover of Colonial furniture enjoys. There is unusual room for the writer—besides numerous little pigeon-holes, drawers and receptacles for pens, papers and other necessary desk requisites.

All Oak Chiffonier, $4.40

THE mechanic's work alone would probably amount to more than we ask for this solid oak five-drawer chiffonier, nicely made and finished. The wood, the hardware, the labor of the polisher and the cost of transportation and handling you get free.

All oak, swell front top drawer of quartered oak, full size and especially well made and finished; brass handles and brass knobs on the top drawer.

Oak Dining Room Chairs

THESE comely chairs of solid oak are as solidly made as the cabinetmaker can make them. The box frame gives the legs additional support and holds the cane seat firmly in place under the greatest pressure.

Being exceptionally well finished and becomingly polished, they will be found suitable for the dining room of the home, boarding-house or hotel.

The braces are so placed as not to interfere with the feet of the occupant.

Particular attention is directed to the unusually small prices.

Arm Chair, $3.40.

Slide Chair, $1.98.

Carpets

OUR collections of Carpets are the brightest and best in New York, being right up to the moment in styles and colorings.

Savonneries, $1.40 a yard.
Extra Wilton Velvets, $2.15 a yard.
Axminster, $1.15 a yard.
Velvets, $1.15 a yard.
Palisade Velvets, 98c. a yard.
DON'T OVERLOOK THE IMPORTANT FACT THAT WE MAKE, LINE AND LAY CARPETS FREE.

Quartered Oak Dressers, $8.98

A NICELY proportioned Dresser, nicely made of quartered oak. The full swell front and the 18x30 oval mirror give the piece a dignified appearance that is not usually found in furniture at this price.

The workmanship throughout is as good as it can be, giving that evidence of painstaking care for which all the Cowperthwait & Sons furniture is so justly famed.

Fine Cushioned Morris Chair, $9.75

The same Chair, with silk plush or silk velvet covered cushions, $14.50.

Full Size Hammock, 59c

SUMMER with its gentle breezes soon will lure you to outdoor pleasures. During rest hours you'll want a hammock in which to read your favorite book or swing into dreamland.

This large hammock will easily meet any demand that may be made upon it, being woven in fancy Leno effect, of strong cotton warp, and having a concealed spreader at the head.

Mahogany Extension Table, $42.50

FOR luncheon, several dainty little linen dories can be made to take the place of a large cloth—the top of the table being so brilliantly polished.

The glistening surface lends a peculiar charm to the white linen and reflects the shapes of the china and cut glass pieces perfectly.

Lunching amidst such surroundings is made possible with this splendid mahogany table—made delightful, too.

The table is splendidly finished and bears evidence of the best workmanship. When opened to its full length it is 8 feet long.

The Wanamaker Store

Tomorrow Inaugurates The Great Summer Occasion

The June Exhibition of White Garments
Housekeeping Linens and Bed Muslins
Handkerchiefs, Embroideries and White Dress Goods

Tomorrow our doors open to a splendor of Merchandise in White, representing half a year's expert and intelligent effort in the making and gathering. Thousands of busy hands, both in America and abroad, have spent weeks and months in the preparation of fabrics and garments.

How little the words "White Sale," as carelessly used by others, for insignificant events involving no real preparation, can convey of the vast labor and gigantic transactions necessary to one of these great WANAMAKER Semi-Annual movements. Think of the extra employment that is given to the thousands of cotton growers, spinners, weavers. Think of the embroideries and lace that must be made. Think of the busy garment-makers, here and abroad, who have worked on them. Think of the hammers of the sheets and handkerchiefs. The world is given all this extra employment, with its extra pay, because WANAMAKER'S organizes and popularizes these great movements for months that formerly were dull.

For years these great events have been famous. But the past is a closed book. We are doing NEW things—not copying the old. Today we are not satisfied to buy and sell vast quantities of Muslin Underwear for less than usual prices. We are planning, procuring, and selling under-price, such Underwear as even the most skilful home needle-workers cannot match, with slow and tedious hand-work.

This is why the Wanamaker White Sale is UNIQUE. It has no imitator of its efforts to gratify the refined tastes of New York women for dainty undergarments.

The policy of PROGRESS is continuous. The highest merchandising skill and experience is always seeking for BETTER things, for greater accomplishments.

The present June Sale that opens tomorrow, has several radical innovations to exploit. Nowhere would they receive a welcome, as from the artistic, beauty-loving, comfort-loving women of New York City. Chiefest are these:

Paris-American Underwear

Who, before, ever thought of having the fronts of nightgowns, corset covers and other garments made abroad and brought over here to be made up into finished garments? Or who that would think of such a thing would then turn around and sell them at prices that are as radically bargains as the best Dollar Nightgowns we ever sold?

Those Paris and other French beauty workers have made for us vast quantities of these half-done garment helps, as well as special designs in lace and embroidered effects that arbitrarily set the French beauty for the garments made from them.

It is a superb collection of garments. And prices are surprisingly little. And also in the Sale. Vast quantities of these exquisite hand-made pieces from Paris, secured so much under-price that women who love these beautiful garments may now possess them without counting it extravagance.

Extra-size Underwear

The comprehensive way in which we have prepared these broad stocks of large-sized garments will prove a delight to women requiring them, who have, in the past, given up the idea of buying Muslin Underwear ready-made. They are designed over the most intelligently prepared models, giving ample proportions, just as though they were being made in your own home—ample, but not clumsy. Some made of fine, sheer fabrics, daintily trimmed. Others, more serviceable, of heavier materials, and in plainer styles, for women of more practical taste.

The first pleasure will be to find such splendidly-assorted stocks in all the different garments, but the interest will be doubled by the fact that prices are as low in proportion, and the bargains equally as great, as in the garments of ordinary sizes.

Put the Regular Stocks Are the Strength of the Sale

Splendidly-made garments for the every-day use of the thousands of practical women. There is not a garment, among all the thousands, that has slipped through without closest inspection. Not a flimsy, poorly-made garment now here, no matter how little the price. The least expensive of all is made of good materials, above criticism so far as wearing qualities are concerned, neatly made, and in ample, comfortable sizes, trimmed in good taste. Every garment is made in clean, airy factories, inspected by us before allowing the work to be done for our public. Every piece is fresh, spic-spannew. The materials at this season are, of course, chiefly of sheer nainsooks and cambrics; and low necks and short sleeves abound. In every case, the utmost value is given, and the price is safely below the criticism of any comparison. The full, fresh stocks will be ready when the store opens tomorrow morning.
